Background:

Specializing in creating natural syrups made with locally sourced ingredients, Pō'ai is the flagship retail location for Pono potions. Located in downtown Chinatown, they serve customers a variety of coffee, tea, juice and mocktail options, along with a selection of gluten-free and vegan baked goods. The shop has a space available for community events, and also artists selling their handmade crafts.

Highlights

- Partners with local businesses and artists to make syrups and sell their wares
- Glass bottle return program for wholesale vendors
- Tables made from 'invasive' albezia wood
- Takeout containers are compostable
- Has space for use by community events and workshops
